

RST VISITORS FLYER

Dear visitor,

We will soon be welcoming you to one of the RST Terminals. We would like to draw your attention to the following:

Directions

Please follow the signs in and around Rotterdam for port number 2750.

You can find the full address at the bottom of this page. Please note: you will need to allow some extra time for registering at the security lodge.

Registration

You, as well as any possible passengers, need to register at the security lodge. You, as well as any possible passengers, must be able to identify yourself with a valid proof of ID. The security team will subsequently direct you to the right location. You can find a map on the back of the RST safety and site rules. There is no reception at the entrance to RST's main building. Your day ticket will provide access to the staircase. From here you can make your way to the floor where you have an appointment using either the stairs or lift. You can register your arrival via the intercom and you will be collected by the person with whom you have an appointment.

Visitors/suppliers to offices and ships

Anyone visiting the RST terminals and/or ships must have familiarised themselves (and complied with) the applicable safety and site rules. These will be sent to you by your RST contact person and/or you will receive these upon arrival at the security lodge. Please do ask if you have not yet received these!

Parking at the terminals is only possible for short periods, any longer-term parking is available in the main building's general car park.

Activities at the Terminals

If you are visiting to carry out activities at one of the terminals, you must familiarise yourself with the RST Life Saving Rules, the RST safety and site rules.

These will be sent to you by your RST contact person and/or you will receive these upon arrival at the security lodge. Please do ask if you have not yet received these!

Any questions?

Any further questions, please don't hesitate to contact your RST contact person, or contact the security team direct on 010-2942528.

We hope you have a very enjoyable stay at our terminals.
