Terminal Traffic Regulations

Operational Areas

The RST terminals are largely enclosed by perimeter fencing. The entrance area is shared with RSC, MRS and Kramer. Access to the operational areas is provided through automatically operated barriers.

To ensure safe and orderly traffic management, RST has established its own Company Traffic Regulations. These regulations define the traffic rules applicable within the operational areas and include traffic signs such as mandatory signs, prohibition signs and other traffic signals based on the Dutch Road Traffic Act.

All traffic signs and signals must be observed in accordance with the applicable legislation. Notwithstanding these regulations, every individual remains responsible for taking all necessary precautions to prevent accidents.

Scope

These Terminal Traffic Regulations apply to everyone participating in traffic within the operational areas.

Compliance

Instructions, mandatory and prohibition signs, warnings and directions issued by authorized personnel or displayed on signs must be strictly always observed.

General Traffic Rules

The following rules apply to all road users within the operational areas.

Unauthorized Persons

Unauthorized persons are not permitted to enter or remain within the operational areas.

Anyone who has not been registered in advance but is required to enter the operational area must report to the RST Reception, Technical Department or Operations Department before entering and upon leaving.

Where possible, vehicles operating within the operational area should be equipped with a functioning rotating beacon.

If unauthorized persons are observed within the container stack, all vehicles in the immediate area must stop immediately and the situation must be reported to the operational supervisor.
